Next Review: Autumn 2022

De La Salle is committed to supporting every student, irrespective of background, to access a high quality education that meets their academic ability, interests and aspirations. This includes all students who require provision that is different from, or additional to that which would be made for other pupils of the same age. This includes pupils who are high attainers as well as those who have identified SEN.

This policy outlines the support provision for pupils with special educational needs or disabilities (SEND) in accordance with the SEN Code of Practice, 0 to 25 years, January 2015. The Special Needs Coordinator (SENCo) is responsible for the development and implementation of this policy.

Special Educational Needs and Disabilities

The Code of Practice states that children have special educational needs if they have a learning difficulty which calls for special educational provision to be made for them.

Children have a learning difficulty if they:

- a) have a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of children of the same age;
- b) have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of educational facilities of a kind generally provided for children of the same age in schools within the area of the local authority;
- c) are under compulsory school age and fall within the definition at (a) or (b) above or would do so if special educational provision was not made for them.

Children must not be regarded as having a learning difficulty solely because the language or form of language of their home is different from the language in which they will be taught.

Categories of Need

Communication and interaction.

Cognition and learning.

Social, emotional and mental health.

Sensory and/or physical.

Children with English as an Additional Language (EAL)

Identification, Monitoring and Assessment of Pupils with SEND and AEN

In secondary schools pupils are usually identified as having a special educational need from the information provided by their previous school. If a member of staff suspects that a pupil might have an unidentified SEN they should speak to the SENCo or other member of the Extended Learning team. The SENCo and the Literacy Tutor will gather information from the pupil's educational history as well as their Teachers. Appropriate assessments are used and the results used to plan the appropriate support for the pupil. A meeting is held with parents before the pupil is included on the SEN profile. Specialist advice is sought from other professionals, such as the Educational Psychologist or specialist teacher team, if necessary.

The De La Salle Student Profile is available to all staff and can be accessed through the 'shared with me' documents. The profile lists the names of all pupils with identified needs or disabilities along with brief details thereof. It also includes pupils with medical needs, pupil premium, free school meals and those with English as an additional language. The profile should be used to inform planning. It is a confidential document.

Level of Need

The Code of Practice describes two levels of need for pupils with SEND.

The SEN Code of Practice aims to ensure all students with SEN are able to participate, learn and make progress by

- Removing barriers to learning
- Putting in place effective special educational provision ☑ Involve parents

Next Review: Autumn 2022

The SEN Code of Practice makes it clear that teachers are directly responsible and accountable for all pupils in their classes, even when pupils are receiving support from a Teaching Practitioner or other specialist staff, through the provision of high quality teaching that is differentiated and personalised to meet the needs of every individual.

The SEN provision for students at both levels of need may involve the support of external services or alternative provision. These specialist providers may work in an advisory capacity or directly with pupils.

Transition Arrangements

A list of pupils with SEN in the new Year 7 will start to be compiled during the summer term prior to admission. This will be done on the basis of information collected by the SENCo from primary schools.

We offer additional transition activities for pupils with significant needs. Additional visits are made to Primary schools as appropriate, and for pupils to attend De La Salle.

All Key Stage 4 pupils with an EHC plan will have time arranged with a Preparing for Adulthood Adviser, to plan their transition to 16+ education. This will be done in consultation with the SENCo who will liaise with Further Education establishments or employers where appropriate. This process starts in Year 9 for students with SEN and personalised support is available throughout the transition process.

Review Procedures

Reviews will take place in accordance with the SEN Code of Practice. Half-yearly reviews will take place for students with SEN Support, one of which will be held at the Annual school parents evening and those with an EHC plan there will be termly meetings. One of which will be the Annual school parents evening.

Statutory annual reviews take place for pupils with an EHC plan.

To inform all reviews, the SENCo will gather information from class teachers and support staff regarding the progress of pupils towards their individual targets. All teachers and LSA's who work with the student are expected to complete information gathering forms prior to the meeting. At the review meeting progress is discussed with the pupil and parents and new targets are set for the future.

Provision for Special Educational Needs

The SENCo is responsible for the monitoring of all aspects of SEND provision to ensure positive outcomes and progress for children with SEND. This will include the management and review of in-class support, the delivery of targeted interventions, appropriate testing and record-keeping and the efficient deployment of funding and resources.

The Learning Support team consists of the SENCo, a learning mentor, interventions coordinator, a team of 8 Learning Support Assistants and the SEN Administrator.

Meeting Individual Needs

Provision for SEND is a whole school responsibility. Every subject area has a responsibility for the full ability range. Departmental programmes and handbooks should reflect the aims and objectives of the School SEND Policy and detail the methods by which they will ensure that the range of educational opportunities is available to all pupils. - .

The emphasis is on inclusion and it is the responsibility of the subject teachers to make appropriate adjustment to ensure all SEN students' individual needs can be met in the classroom and progress made.

The subject leader is responsible for:

- liaising with the SENCo
- circulating information appropriate to SEND support within the department; - assisting the SENCo in gathering information prior to reviews.

Children experiencing difficulties should be referred to the faculty leader for initial consideration regarding meeting the pupil's needs within the faculty. If concerns remain, the faculty leader should refer to the SENCO for further advice or alternative solutions.

In-class Support

LSA's work in the classroom under the direction of the class teacher whose responsibility it is to direct what the LSA needs to be doing. Between them they will ensure pupils with special needs receive the support and expertise to enable pupils with special needs to access the curriculum effectively and make progress in line with other pupils in the class. The LSA may be allocated to a particular pupil or to a group of pupils. The LSA's aim is to tackle learning difficulties as they arise from the work the pupil is doing.

It is expected that all LSA's maintain clear records of their work and interventions within the classroom. It is expected that the LSA based in a subject will ensure the Teachers will be kept up to date with any SEN changes such as new pupils and Provision Plans or changes in levels of need.

Targeted interventions

A number of pupils require additional help especially in literacy and numeracy over and above that which is provided in subject areas and by LSA support in the classroom. The SENCo, along with the interventions coordinator will organise a timetable for the provision of specific programmes of study to meet the needs of small groups or individual pupils. Progress will be monitored regularly. Other interventions are available, when required, to assist pupils with particular needs to develop their skills eg motor skills, thinking skills, study skills, anger management and social skills.

Provision plans

Children on the SEN profile at SEN Support or with an EHC plan will have an Individual Education Plan or provision plan that take the form of One plans and pupils profiles, which will be reviewed with the pupil regularly. The plan describes targets relating to the needs of the pupil and strategies to assist teachers, support staff, parents and pupils to meet those targets. All students on the SEND register also have a Pupil profile which gives valuable information about the student and how best to support him or her. A copy of the passport can be found in the SEN Shared Folder and on the provision mapping software, available to all members of staff. All teachers should keep up to date copies for the pupils with SEN they teach in order to inform their teaching and planning.

Review documents specify the nature of a pupil's needs, external specialists involved, parental and pupil views regarding provision and progress, the provision made to meet the needs, any specific programmes, activities, materials or equipment needed and any pastoral care or medical requirements.

Staff Training

At the start of each academic year, staff are informed of the pupils with SEND and additional needs in the new intake.

Whole school inset is provided regularly through the school year and is used to raise awareness of, for example, particular areas of need, or to develop effective classroom practise for SEN pupils. Relevant SEND information is conveyed to staff in regular updates on a range of different SEN matters.

INSET is provided for members of the Extended Learning Team by the SENCo and out of school providers.

All members of the SEN team are encouraged to continue their own learning either by developing a specific area of expertise or by gaining higher qualifications.

Partnerships with Parents

De La Salle is committed to a partnership with parents for all pupils as this has a crucial bearing on pupil's educational progress and the effectiveness of school actions. All arrangements for pupils and actions relating to SEND will take account of the wishes, feelings and knowledge of parents at all stages.
